

To WHO it concerns

I have visit and audit Technocast Foundry several times during the last 2 years.

I can state that the value of the company is very high compared to other similar equal size (medium size) foundries, delivering castings in grey and ductile iron, required in small to medium series.

Their castings are of a consistent quality level and the foundry staff is able to analyze quickly and accurately and solve problems if they appear. There is a good drive for continuous improvement.

I can always inform you more about the foundry evaluation on request.
